Welcome to Fall,

We had a great Fall Tour of Guthrie and OKC with the Tulsa Model A Club and a few people from Texas and Kansas. It was a busy time, but I think everyone enjoyed the tour in our backyard. We all enjoyed showing off some of the important places we have here in Oklahoma City and we had the chance to learn some more history.

Thank you, Vonnie and Kay Lee Meritt, for making the hats and donating them. Thanks to Jim, of the Dallas Club, for wearing his hat for the entire tour. Thank you also, to Chuck and Karen Dusenbery, for their tireless work on this tour.

Don't forget that we are changing the club meetings to the 3rd Sunday of each month at 2:00 PM, starting in January. The meeting in January 2024 will be on January 19th.

Remember to pay your dues of only $20.00 per year for the family. It is a bargain. The Christmas party is Sunday, the 10th of December, at 2:00pm at the Will Rogers Garden Center. Earls' will cater the dinner again, and of course we will play Dirty Santa. The cost is $25.00 per person for the Christmas party. So please bring your check books to the October Club meeting to pay for your dues and the Christmas party.

We averaged around eight Model A's at the Yukon Parade, the Mansions Retirement Home, and at the Baptist Retirement Home. Everyone is welcome to attend these events. People enjoy seeing and talking about our Model A's. Our next parade is the Veteran's Day parade in Blanchard on Saturday, November 11th. Line up is at 9:30 at 10th and Main, across from the church.

The Board is open to all volunteers and/or suggestions for any upcoming meeting or event. I want to thank everyone who has ever provided food or drinks, or worked at setting up and taking down the table and chairs for each meeting.

I am looking forward to seeing you at the next activity.

QUOTATIONS OF HENRY FORD

"The world is held together by the mass of honest folk who do their daily tasks, tend their own spot in the world, and have faith that at last the Right will come fully into its own. These are the salt of the earth; they constitute that saline solution which is forever reviving a moribund world. They believe that right motives make right conditions, that if their faces are turned toward the light they cannot miss the road, and all right-minded men desire to see this true faith of the people vindicated. This is our truest basis of prosperity. It is the essence of all our security. It is the promise of all our progress. If this faith should be lost from any considerable group of society, it would constitute a loss equal to that of all the material wealth we possess."

APPLEWOOD BOOKS
Bedford, Massachusetts

(Note: Editor had to look up the word "moribund." Webster's dictionary says it is an adjective and means death or a final ending, such as dying, expiring, fading, ending, deteriorating, or regressing.)

Jim's Tech Tips "Difficult Steering"

Many Model A owners find their car hard to steer when parking or maneuvering at low speed. After you confirm that there is oil in the steering gear box (not grease), the tires are all inflated to 35 psi, and everything on the front axle has been properly greased, you are left with the most likely cause: The spindle bolt (kingpin) "thrust bearings" are defective or they are not shimmed up properly to support the weight of the car. You can confirm this by using a floor jack to take some weight off of the front wheels, and then see if the steering effort is drastically reduced. If it is, the problem is the bearings.

To correct this, you need to remove everything from the spindles to get to the kingpins and remove them. See Les Andrews' Red Book, starting on page 1-209, for directions. The illustration below comes from later in that section.

Clean the thrust bearing and replace it if it does not turn smoothly or shows any signs of wear. Pack the bearing with grease before reinstalling.

When reassembling, you need to test fit the spindle with the kingpin fully locked in place with the locking pin. Temporarily leave the large felt seal and metal washer off of the bottom of the spindle for this. Start with the number of shims previously used, then add 1 shim at a time until very little or no vertical movement of the spindle is felt on the kingpin. It can take up to 4 shims to compensate for wear.

At some point, adding a shim may jam up the spindle, making it hard to turn on the kingpin. If it does, take that last shim out, reassemble, and confirm that the spindle again moves easily, as it should. Now reassemble the spindle on the axle with the felt seal and the cupped metal washer installed between the axle and the bottom part of the spindle (the metal cup touches the axle, the felt touches the spindle). The added thickness of the felt seal may temporarily make the spindle a bit stiff turning on the kingpin, but it will quickly flatten out and move smoothly when you drive.

Now reinstall everything that attaches to the spindle, install the brakes, maybe use this as an opportunity to clean and repack the wheel bearings, then install the drums and the wheels. Grease all of the fittings well. Go for a test drive, enjoy the easier steering, and Have a Model A Day!

Ladies Casual and Outdoor Wear in the Model A Era

by Melanie G. Whittington, Almost Heaven A's

The fun of dressing for the Model A era doesn't always have to involve evening gowns with lots of jewelry, matching shoes and purse. We sometimes forget there are many options to consider when dressing for the era. This article is going to focus on what to wear when outdoors. Our mothers, grandmothers and g-grandmothers were tending the garden, hiking, camping and a variety of other activities which took them outside. Think back to the people in your family who were around in 1928-31. If you are lucky enough to have pictures, they are a great reference for your research on what to wear with your Model A.

Ladies who lived out in the country would spend a considerable amount of time outside hanging up laundry and working in the garden. These activities were a necessity and kept their family fed and clothed. A cotton housedress and apron are a staple to start a wardrobe which focuses on comfort and utility. These dresses could also be worn on a picnic or a trip into town. Work-weight hosiery were commonly worn with these house dresses. These stockings would be heavier cotton, wool or silk, worn with a low-heeled leather shoe.

A dress I never knew existed in our era is the house frock with a divided skirt. Though we rarely hear about it, it was common enough to be included in the catalogues of the day, such as Sears, Montgomery Ward and National Bellas Hess. These dresses used a skirt with a seam in the middle to turn them into wide-legged pants. This gave the feminine look of a skirt, but the practicality of a pair of trousers. These dresses were made of printed cotton. The ad says, "for use around the house or to the market". This shows these were considered appropriate to be worn outside of the home.

Another option is bib overalls with a mannish long-sleeved, button up shirt with oxford style shoes, boots or even barefoot. This may have been reserved for very rural areas and not necessarily seen if you 'went into town', but it is still an option to wear while enjoying your Model A. This is also a great alternative for children and young girls with a short-sleeved cotton shirt. A dark wash blue jean fabric is what we usually think of, but they came in lighter blue, dark blue with white stripes, white (for painters) and various other colors. The fabric was usually heavy-duty denim or a duck/canvas to withstand the rigors of working or playing outside.

Camping with portable campers, pulled behind an automobile, became popular after the turn of the century. Ladies took to wearing knickers and jodhpurs for ease of movement and modesty as they camped, cooked and hiked across the country. These could be made of wool tweed, half wool tweed, cotton tweed, corduroy, whipcord, linen, or khaki. "Practically all the world wears the Knicker nowadays": Montgomery Ward and Co. Spring and Summer 1928.

In pictures of the Model A era, you will see lots of ladies in tall leather boots. Red Wing introduced their first ladies' hiking boot, the Gloria, in 1926, complete with a 'compact pocket' to keep your powder compact safe. Pictured is one of the original ads for the same boot. Red Wing is reintroducing this boot as part of their Heritage Collection and can be purchased today. Also available were canvas shoes similar to today's Keds. In the 1931 Montgomery Ward's catalogue, they are available in brown, black or white canvas.

Wool or leather leggings, known as puttees, were used and had been since WWI by the American and Allied troops. Originals are getting harder to come by, but reproduction puttees are still available. Puttees could be used with short boots or oxford style shoes. Pictured is an ad referencing 'Uncle Sam's Wrap Style'. "Regulation army style wrap or spiral puttees, same style as worn by U.S. soldiers. Made of olive drab cloth. Worn by men, women, boys and girls."

Also pictured, is me in one of my favorite hiking outfits using reproduction puttees. This is one of the most comfortable outfits I have for the Model A era. I have tall cotton socks under the leg wraps, no garters needed, an era image cotton button up shirt, a vintage scarf and vintage brown velvet beret. If it's cold you can wear cotton or wool long underwear, which can be purchased from stores like Tractor Supply or Vermont Country Store.
